BSB41419 Certificate IV in Work Health and Safety Course Overview

This qualification is suitable for people working in a Work Health and Safety (WHS) role who work to provide leadership and guidance to others and have some limited responsibility for the output of others.

The qualification reflects the role of workers who apply a broad knowledge base and well developed skills in a wide variety of contexts and may include coordinators, advisors and facilitators.

Key Outcomes

- Assist with establishing and maintaining workplace compliance with work health and safety (WHS) laws. It includes identifying applicable WHS laws, duties, rights and obligations, and the necessary actions to ensure WHS compliance in the workplace.
- Contribute to implementing and maintaining work health and safety (WHS) consultation and participation as prescribed in legislation including contributing to communicating relevant information, identifying feedback opportunities, and improving consultation and participation.
- Contribute to WHS risk management, which includes the processes for identifying work health and safety (WHS) hazards and assessing and controlling the risk relating to those identified hazards.
- Contribute to implementing a plan for a work health and safety management system (WHSMS) that applies to own role and contributing to the implementation of an organisation's WHSMS.
- Assist with actions and activities performed in response to workplace incidents according to work health and safety (WHS) legislative and organisational requirements.
- Assist with managing the work health and safety (WHS) implications of using contractors. It involves identifying contractor duties, establishing organisational WHS compliance requirements associated with those duties, establishing and communicating the requirements expected of contractors, monitoring contractor compliance with WHS requirements, and implementing required responses to identified non-compliance.
- Identify risks and to apply established risk management processes to a defined area of operations that are within the responsibilities and obligations of the role.
- Plan documents, draft text, prepare final text and produce documents of some complexity including the creation of reports, forms, information and general documents.
- Gather, organise, analyse and present workplace information using available systems and sources. This includes identifying research requirements and sources of information, applying information to a set of facts, evaluating the quality and reliability of the information, and preparing and producing reports.
- Prepare, deliver and review a presentation to a target audience.
